

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A the game management system comprising: a bet board having a plurality of bet areas corresponding to stop positions of the roulette ball in the roulette wheel; chip information recording device recording information from a chip; stop position detecting device detecting the stop position of the ball and bet value thereof; bet information detecting device detecting the bet position and bet value of the chip by reading the information recorded in the chip information recording device when the chip is placed on the bet area; payout calculating device calculating payout in the game based on the position of the ball in the wheel, the bet position and bet value of the chip ; and a PTS server managing the history of the game based on the result detected by the stop position detecting device, the result detected by the bet information detecting device and the payout calculated by the payout calculating device.